   Daniel Cohen addressed the board regarding the services that HCDE provides. He stated that if not for HCDE these services would not exist, and that the board needed to defend the department and these services. He further spoke regarding the replacement of board legal counsel and that other firms that have been interviewed to replace the current counsel are of bipartisan interest, and that the current attorney has done well in defending the board. He further stated that he would prefer to see the board meetings take place or in the evenings or for constituents to be allowed to Skype into the meetings.

   Colleen Vera addressed the board regarding item 6.A.1 and requested an explanation for the check written for Head Start in-kind donations. She requested an explanation as to why item 7.A did not mention that the E-rate equipment would be fully funded by a Head Start grant. She requested confirmation as to whether the equipment would be funded by a grant. She stated that HCDE stated that it opened Texas’ first public recovery high school and stated that because none of HCDE’s schools were accredited by the state of Texas, the board should ask administration to correct the misrepresentation. She also made suggestions to the board on how they could better manage HCDE’s use of public funds, citing funds used to feed board members.

   Diane Guzman addressed the board regarding the restoration of representation in Austin. She stated that because of the funding from HCDE, which partners with the city of Houston and other governmental entities, parents and students are able to be informed about HCDE programs and benefit from such programs as after-school programs. She stated that because of these programs, students are excelling. She further recommended that the board restore the representation in Austin.

Jan Forney addressed the board, saying that there is a big problem in education in the state and that our kids’ needs are not being met. She stated that the board is important and is a pillar in supporting the educational structure for our kids. She stated that HCDE’s services are critical to the ISDs, as well as good, unbiased legal representation and representation in Austin. She asked the board to stop pulling out pillars and to support the HCDE services and critical programs, stating that this is not a political game but our society’s future.

Joy Davis addressed the board, stating that HCDE is very important to children with special needs. She stated that we need representation to advocate for our children and requested that the board bring back HillCo, stating that she wants to see tax dollars used on programs that help our children.

Andrea Duhaun addressed the board regarding the elimination of HillCo’s representation of HCDE. She stated that HillCo not only represented HCDE but also the taxpayers. She requested that the board bring back HillCo for representation, stating that this is not about Republicans or Democrats but about supporting our kids. She encouraged the board to keep the current board attorney and to keep HCDE programs from being eliminated. She stated that the public is watching and knows who is supporting the programs.

Jason Oliver addressed the board in regard to necessary representation for HCDE. He stated that leaving HCDE without representation is to place it at risk of closure, and that it will place children at risk of violence. He stated that programs such as Head Start are important to HCDE and that they need to be paid attention to. He stated that by providing assistance to other school districts, HCDE saves money for taxpayers in the long run. He asked the board to have a special meeting to retain HillCo Partners and to keep the current board attorney, who is experienced and knowledgeable.

Josh Wallenstein addressed the board regarding the board’s legal representation. He stated that the board was not following the rules for selecting legal representation and that there was evidence of collusion and public corruption in the selection process for board legal counsel Mr. Wallenstein reviewed the RFQ criteria and Trustee Wolfe’s evaluation scores, stating that Trustee Wolfe had given straight zeros to all nine law firms with experience in representing education entities. He also stated that Trustee Wolfe had identical scores of another trustee. He urged the board to withdraw the RFP or to re-start the process with the current members of the board, with fair and impartial evaluations.

Johnathan Miller addressed the board in regard to changing the time of meetings. He stated that it was important to him to come to meetings and in order for him to be active and communicate, there should be a time change of meetings. He stated that the board should restore the Department’s representation in Austin. He stated that HCDE was the only entity that was expanding services while decreasing the tax rate and the Department should be expanding further. He requested that the board maintain current legal representation. He stated that the board president represents the entire county. He further asked if the special called meeting on February 11th was so important, why was it not finished? He stated that those who support HCDE as well as the Superintendent should be on the PFC committee and volunteered to serve on the PFC.

Matt Maliah addressed the board stating that President Flynn needs to address what is best for the people. He stated that getting rid of representation in Austin and hiring legal counsel without education based experience was not in good faith. He stated that the board needs to think about what is in the best interest of the people.

Amaury Mercado addressed the board to advocate for himself and other single parents who could not be there. He stated that the meetings should take place at a more convenient time. He stated the people who needed them deserve to have the services provided by HCDE. He requested that the board bring back HillCo and maintain the current legal representation.

David Jennings addressed the board in regard to agenda item 7.B. He stated that he was in support of the change and that it is a good public policy to change legal representation and auditors every 3-5 years. He addressed item 7.C. stating that he supported this item. He addressed item 7.H. stating that the board had more important things to spend tax payer money on. He stated that overall he was happy with the direction that the board was going and he thanked the board for discontinuing the HillCo contract.

5. Reports and presentations:

   A. Superintendent Monthly Report - James Colbert, Jr.

   Superintendent Colbert introduced a short PowerPoint and addressed 4 highlights that have taken place in the past few weeks. He recognized an article that came out in a community newspaper on Fortis Academy recognizing its success with the students. He discussed this year’s Early Childhood Winter Conference and stated that it was the second largest conference for pre-k teachers in the state and recognized the large number of participants who attended, including Trustee Danny Norris. He brought to attention the Scholastic Arts and Writing Awards and recognized that student work was currently on display at Spring Street Studio and Texas Art Supply. He recognized Mrs. Seagraves for her leadership in the Early Childhood Winter Conference and the Scholastic Arts and Writing Awards. He recognized the CASE Division and its Ecobots Challenge and Case Debates programs.
